To Whom It May Concern:

Westphall remodeling recently completed an addition to our house. After extensive research on the internet, I contacted Mr. Westphall for a quote. He was very straightforward and honest with his assessment of our needs and provided me a very reasonable quote. I discussed his quote with a recently retired contractor and she stated that it was more than reasonable with the amount of work that was involved. The previous owners of our home added a pool to our backyard. Unfortunately, we did not have access to a restroom in the house from the pool area. We have two young children so I was tired of drying our hardwood floors every time they needed to go into the house to use the restroom.

Mr. Westphall and his crew added a full bathroom as well as a Scandinavian Sauna to our existing structure. His masons matched the existing rock of the addition perfectly to our home. Even though the tile for our roof was no longer produced, his team relentlessly located an exact match and designed the roof to coincide with the existing architecture of our house. Needless to say, our addition looks as if it was the original design of the house. My neighbors were impressed with the addition as well as the professionalism of his staff. The crew cleaned up everything everyday prior to going home and Mr. Westphall would provide me daily updates via email or phone of my project through completion. Without reservations, if you are considering adding an addition to your house, you should definitely give Mr. Westphall a call. His attention to detail, experience in the field, association with professional subcontractors, and talents are second to none. I highly recommend him without any reservations.

Sincerely,
